3. Report: Conference on ‘Integrated personality development and character building of students’

It was indeed a matter of pride for the institute to organize one-day seminar on Personality Development and Character building of students on 4 January 2014. Though the seminar was organized by faculty of human development and home economics in became an interdisciplinary theme as faculty member from all streams could participate in the seminar. Sub- themes were specially designed to focus on the various issues related to overall personality development of the students. Expert’s guidance proved very beneficial for the students and teachers. Research papers presented and published by delegates could provide thoughtful and informative messages to all the stakeholders. As students in present context are facing problems in society and in family, discussion on issues related to society and family will help to eliminate the problems and may be useful in providing better environment conducive for their progress and development.

4. Report: Conference on ‘Health Fitness Yoga and Community Nutrition: Essence of Life’

It was the matter of pride to organize National level conference on “Health Fitness Yoga & Community Nutrition: Essence of Life” on 24 & 25 November 2014, in the phase of the silver jubilee year of the college.

Being women’s college, it was our intension to create awareness regarding health fitness Yoga and Community Nutrition by the organization of the conference. The expert lectures, and paper presentations on the basic needs of nutritious food, physical and mental fitness proved fruitful to bring forth “healthy youth for healthy nation”. In today’s environmental crisis, paper presentations on effects of Yoga on physical fitness will definitely help to overcome the health problems. In Indian, malnutrition is one of the major problems crying for solution. We hope that the conference will be beneficial to teacher and student delegates as well as the community create awareness regarding health fitness as it is properly said, Healthy body and health is wealth.

5. Report: Conference on ‘Trends and Tendencies in Indian Women’s Writing’

It was the matter of pride to organize State Level Conference on ‘Trends and Tendencies in Indian Women’s Writing’ on 26 & 27 November 2014, in the last phase of the Silver Jubilee year of the college.

Even before and after the independence of India, Women wrote their autobiographies as a means of self- extension. Perhaps it might be their search for identity. And there began literary journey of Indian women. In their writing Indian women threw the light on their sad plight in the patriarchal system of society in which they became the victims of male dominated society. With the intension to have a healthy discussion on Indian women’s writing, the conference was organized in the collaboration with the paternal institute, Phulsing Naik College Pusad. The present conference, with its main and sub themes paved the way to explore various trends and tendencies in women’s writing focusing it on especially Dalit Feminism.

The keynote address of Dr. Mabel Faenandes, Expert sessions and paper presentation sessions proved fruitful for the teacher as well as student delegates. The conference helped to explore new trends in women’s writing. It also provided new platform and widened the literacy horizon of the budding scholars and researchers. At the same, we hope that it will definitely help to change the mindsets of society. It will serve as a new social reform movement for gender equality and empowerment of our women a movement that will change society’s attitude towards women.
